SLOW MUSIC CONTINUES TOO MUCH TECH IN THE LAST GAME OF THE SEASON TECH THE VICTOR AT 7-0

Grant Field, Atlanta, Nov. 25.—Well, fellows, we lost. I saw it and a few of you saw it and we are sad. The outcome could have been different and perhaps would have—but—. However, we lost like gentlemen and sportsmen and we returned home feeling bad, but victors nevertheless, because we had held back a certain desire to perhaps do something we ought not have. I'm not mentioning any names.

It was a good game, fellows, you'll concede that—and we must hand it to Heisman and that Tech bunch. They've got the team, all right. It wasn't a disgrace to lose to that bunch, even if it wasn't their regular habit of beating Auburn. Let them have their game. They earned it.

Did you see Bidez? I did. He seemed to be the only one who could go through the line. He went. He tore until he was over the goal line, but it didn't count. There were too many on top of him for a good, exact look, so we lost the score.

Steed? Yes, he was there, very much there. I saw him tackle and run and bowl over Tech men very nicely. He did his work and did it well.

Caughman? You bet he was there, and you knew the difference when he wasn't. When he hurt his knee and had to leave the game, a noticeable difference was apparent, because the team was used to him and his signals.

Lucy? Yes-sirree. Lucy was right on the job and he was the only one who could have replaced Caughman without causing much troubles in the backfield. Did you see him run, too, with that bad leg of his? Believe me, he wasn't afraid of himself.

Prendy? Yes, Prendy was there in full force and the gains he made are the best end runs that were made the whole game by Auburn.

Baby? Yes, Baby tried to murder two or three by falling at or on them. They stopped and listened each time. No, no serious damages resulted—and by the way—he was in chapel Monday. I saw him!

Now the paper has only allowed me a matter of about twenty inches of space to tell about all this, and, really, it's hard to tell. If I tried to tell everything, I'd need a secretary and a shotgun, so I'm not going to go far far. The whole d—n team played its best, I believe, considering what—well, you know what I'm driving at.

There were between ten and twelve thousand people in the stands and it took lots of energy

SEWANEE DEFEATED BY VANDY

Sewanee sprung quite a surprise Thursday by holding Vandy 3 to 0 until the final quarter. Sewanee scored their three points in the first period by a beautiful field goal from the 35-yard line. Vandy came back strong in the last period and by beautifully executed forward passes, mixed in by end runs, swept Sewanee off their feet and scored four touchdowns.

Sewanee's defense was very good and it was not until the last of the game that Vandy was able to do anything with Sewanee's line.

GEORGIA 13, CLEMSON 0

Paddock's recovery of a fumble and Neville's line bucking gave Georgia their two touchdowns over Clemson last Thursday. By this they got revenge from last year, when Clemson won 35 to 13.

McConnell of Georgia broke his leg and as many penalties were inflicted on both sides. It seems as if there was plenty of rough play.

Paddock played his last game for Georgia and in closing his career he played a great game. His generalship has won Georgia many games and the need of his services will be felt greatly when the football season opens next year.

NORTH CAROLINA HOLDS VIRGINIA

North Carolina came back at their old rival, Virginia, and held them to a very close score as compared to their other games this past season. Virginia was expected to win by a large score, but North Carolina showed old time form and held Virginia to 14 to 0.

Mayer of Virginia was easily the star and his great work was responsible for Virginia's touchdowns.

ALABAMA 55, "OLE MISS" 0

Alabama had little trouble defeating "Ole Miss." Thanksgiving, Mississippi failed to show any strength at all and Alabama scored almost at will.

Vandergraff and Harsh were the stars, Vandergraff on defense and Captain Harsh on offense.

THE MAGIC WORD

There's a little word with three letters,
Which, if you only grasp its potency,
Will send you higher
To the goal where you aspire,
Which without its precious aid
You'll never see—N-O-W.

Success attends the man who views it right;
It's back and forward meanings differ quite;
For this is how it reads,
To the man of ready needs,
Who spells it backward, forms achievement's height—W-O-N.

Glee Club and Minstrel In LaFayette

Friday evening the Glee Club and Minstrel gave a very creditable performance to an enthusiastic audience in LaFayette, Ala.

The boys were well entertained at the different homes about the city.

The conduct and bearing of the members of the club was so well taken that a record breaking house is promised next time a stand is made at LaFayette.

There are none of the members, who in mentioning the trip, failed to speak of the fair sex of that town.

RAYMOND ROBINS AT AUBURN

The past four days have found Auburn in the midst of a greater revival of interest and enthusiasm in things that tend toward a better and a higher plane of living, than ever before in the history of the institution. Langdon Hall has been crowded ever since the first address of Mr. Robins, the great leader and thinker from the 17th ward of Chicago. Never in the annals of the religious life of any Auburn student body has there appeared a more powerful speaker, with a greater message. Coming out of a busy life of service for the betterment of the crowded tenement in which he labors, he has a message that rings true to the experiences that have been his and that gets a grip on those to whom he relates it as no other story we have ever heard.

To have this great speaker and thinker put before us the value and the imperative necessity of the extension of the ideals of The Wonderful Gallilean, has indeed been a great service to the men of Auburn. His messages teemed with the ideals of serving. Serving others before considering the things that are of more especial value to oneself, looking for those things that permit of improving the living and moral conditions of the men about you, and finally, putting the serving teachings of Jesus.

PREPARATIONS FOR AUBURN--N. C. DEBATE

AUBURN AGAIN TO DEBATE N. C. A. & M.

The Debating Council has completed arrangements for another debate between Auburn and North Carolina A. & M.

The debate will be held towards the close of January in Raleigh, N. C.

The above announcement will bring joy to many Auburn men. Last year we debated them twice here at Auburn and an equal number of times we were victorious. Both times they sent out a strong team, but not strong enough to win. This year they are hungry for revenge, and to defeat them we must put out a strong fighting team—a team that will go at it like Mike's football team.

The subject to be debated is: "Resolved, That Great Britain's policy of non-interference in the people's affairs makes for higher civilization than Germany's policy of governmental control." Any undergraduate student is eligible to the debate. Two men will be sent from Auburn to Raleigh to represent us in the debate and if a freshman has the ability, and will try, he has as much chance to make the trip as any senior. It will be like selecting a football team; the best man gets the place. It is the wish of the Debating Council that both literary societies debate this subject at an early date. A try-out will soon be held and all those who show up well enough will be tried from time to time and finally the "fittest" will win.

To make this team will be an honor worth while. It will mean that the man who makes it has some natural ability and also ability to work. The trip will be one worth taking.

Auburn is at the top of the pinnacle in many things and by proper work and encouragement she will soon be at the top in debating. Let every man who thinks he has any ability as a speaker come out and try to make the team.

CADET CORPORALS APPOINTED IN THE CORPS

Sophomores Pass Exams.

On Thursday, November 16th, after the regular drill, the corporals for the corps of cadets were appointed. Their promotion is based upon an examination, to which all sophomores are eligible, together with their military attainment and mental ability. They rank as their names are mentioned below:

1. Allen, W. W.
2. Hamilton, J. H.
3. Strozier, J. A.
4. Withington, W. H.
5. Hicks, D. W.

ANNUAL INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE HELD

Wirts Get Revenge

Another Thanksgiving debate has passed into history and it was in every way a success. It was attended by the usual large crowd, who were well entertained by the gifted speakers representing their respective societies. J. E. Thomason and Shu Min Wong represented the Websterian Society and presented some good reasons why the "Present system of working State convicts should be abolished." E. L. Deal and W. L. Blanton represented the negative side of the question for the Wirts, and their clear, well arranged and forceful argument unanimously won the debate. It was a warm contest from start to finish. Each speaker did credit to himself and his society. Each speaker had been well prepared, but the Wirts simply had the facts put together in such a way that they could not be broken down.

By this victory the Wirts avenged themselves for their defeat last year. The Thach cup goes over until next year; when Thanksgiving comes around, another battle will be fought for its possession.

THE SOPHOMORE DEBATING SOCIETY

The Sophomore English classes have organized into a Debating Society this year and are now having a series of debates between sections weekly.

Prof. White's section met Prof. Rutland's section last week in a hot discussion on the commission

AUBURN, ALA., DEC. 3, 1915

Did any one fail to hear Raymond Robins? If there be such, he is to be pitied, for not often in a man's life does an opportunity to hear a personage like Mr. Robins present itself.

We believe we are perfectly justified in saying that he has made an impression on the student body that no one else has made. During his talks every man from the rat on the back row to Dr. Thach in his chair leaned forward in his seat drinking in with enthusiasm the flow of unadulterated and eloquent truth that came from the lips of Mr. Robins.

Mr. Robins is a practical man. He is a man among men. He has worked in the mines for a dollar a day, he has dug gold in the bitter cold of an Alaskan winter, never wavering, though thousands failed. He has done notable work in Chicago, helped the poor, cared for the sick, exposed rotten conditions and reformed them.

Mr. Robins has pointed out to us our duties toward our communities, however large or small they may be. He has shown that economic waste and bad social conditions are detrimental to good morals, but that, on the other hand, a clean community makes for higher citizenship and an enlightened, moral conscience. He has shown the doctrine of the real religion to be service and love—certainly there can be none higher.

Mr. Robins has made a home in Auburn. We congratulate Mr. Smith because he was so fortunate and so wise as to secure him. We congratulate the student body because of the opportunity they have had, and lastly we believe that Mr. Robins may well be pleased, for without doubt he has done the students here an untold amount of good. May he come again!

THE COLLEGE BAND

One of the greatest factors in bringing about concerted action on the part of the student body in college activities is undoubtedly the college band. When the time comes for it to contribute its share towards the efforts of any of the athletic teams, mass meetings, or any of the various diversions that make college life worth while, it is never wanting. This organization engages in long hours of practice in order that it may do credit to the cause for which it appears in public.

As an advertisement to the college there is possibly nothing that is as valuable as the band. This organization takes several trips each year, and makes a favorable impression for the college upon every one who hears it.

Road that seeks the sunset, road that meets the dawning, Road that belts the mountain top,

road that hides a-dale;

Road where lovers walk in spring,
road where men go mourning, Wind-blown sea-road, set with steam and sail;

Gipsy road a-revel with the bird-song
and the briar,

White road to the city's heart, worn with weary quest—

You'll find when you go seeking,
dear lad, with heart of fire,

Of all roads in all the world the home-road's best.

THE BUSY MAN'S CREED

I believe in the stuff I am handing out, in the firm that I am working for; and in my ability to get results. I believe that honest stuff can be passed out to honest men by honest methods. I believe in working; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my job. I believe that a man gets what he goes after, that one deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself. I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds. I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and in honest competition. I believe there is something doing, somewhere, for every man ready to do it. I believe I am ready—RIGHT NOW!

—Elbert Hubbard.

Daniel Webster was editor-in-chief of the first college paper in the United States. It was published at Dartmouth.

Who wrote the most, Dickens, Warren, or Bulwer? Warren wrote "Now and Then," Bulwer wrote "Night and Morning," Dickens "All the Year Round."

He writeth best, who stealeth best,
Ideas great and small,
For the great Soul that wrote the first
From nature stole them all.

Freshman Logic: A lazy boy is better than nothing. Nothing is better than a studious boy. Therefore a lazy boy is better than a studious boy.

At the regular meeting of the Alabama Section of the American Chemical Society, which was held at the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham Saturday night, Auburn was well represented.

Of the twenty-two present, five were from Auburn, and all enjoyed the informal dinner from 6:45 to 7:45, when the business of the society was taken up, and Dr. Ross presented a paper covering some experimental work on "The Toxicity of Some Plant Constituents on the Soil," done by Prof. Funchess at Auburn.

The resignation of Prof. Bliss as secretary-treasurer was accepted, due to his change of residence, and Mr. Parrazinne was elected to fill his office. He gave an interesting talk on explosives, explaining the methods of testing and manufacture.

Dr. Ross, and Messrs. Jackson, Pipkin, Adler and Miller of Auburn were present.

Agricultural Notes

R. E. CAMMACK

The Agricultural Club met last Friday night. The program was as follows:

1. The Philosopher's Stone in Relation to Agriculture—C. E. Nelson.

2. Certified Milk—E. L. Deal.

3. Pecans in Alabama—S. N. Crosby.

4. Business.

Each speaker was limited to ten minutes. They could only outline these subjects in this short time, but if one will take the outlines given and the brief discussion he will profit greatly by them.

It is only a short time now until Christmas. Let's all come out and not let the attendance drop off on account of exams.

form of government in cities having a population of over 50,000.

Prof. White's section had the affirmative, which was represented by Massengale and Wannamaker.

Prof. Rutland's section, on the negative, was represented by Watson and Witherington.

The rebuttal speakers for the affirmative were, Price, Roberts and Ruffin; for the negative, Sullivan, Sills and Shaver.

The debate showed careful preparation on both sides, and was at all times hotly contested.

The decision of the judges was rendered in favor of the affirmative.

Veterinary Notes

R. K. ROBERSON

At the usual meeting of the V. M. A. a very interesting program was rendered.

E. E. Williams prepared an excellent paper on "Hog Cholera." T. M. White gave in detail the handling and methods of inoculations of hogs as prophylactic treatment.

Dr. Schienlaub answered questions on the above subjects and gave method of testing virus and serum.

It is gratifying to all the old friends of Dr. E. T. Hallman, who graduated at Auburn from the Veterinary Department and who was an instructor here for two years, and who now holds a position as pathologist in the A. & M. College of Michigan, to note that he is doing valuable services and has done good work in connection with the recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease in that State. A recent report of the head of his department commends him for his valuable and satisfactory work.

The indifferent man to religion soon becomes skeptical.

to be heard. The rooting was weak—awfully weak—but it was not due to the neglect of those present. It was due to the pitifully small number of loyal Auburn students who were there. If there had been 400 more we might have hopped the Ref—but we didn't have quite enough. Don't you wish you had been there?

The day was beautiful. Just right. I had had just enough turkey and trimmings to enjoy sitting still and looking happy. I was happy until halfway through the second quarter, and then I got mad, but it didn't do any good. We lost anyway, and then I got sad, but I've recovered now. We should worry. We don't need the championship every year, but if we did the other teams would cut us out and get up a private championship of their own. They'd have to.

Now Tech has been in the cellar for a long time. Let's let her get out for a little sunshine and roses. She's out—but we'll put her back next year. Where is Vandy? On the top! Yes, but we are going to turn the top over next year, so look out, Vandy, or you'll get squashed.

Well, goodbye, football season—I won't be with you in body next season, but will be there strong in spirit. Here's to Auburn, fellows—and a luckier season next year!

FLORIDA 14, MERCER 6

The University of Florida defeated the Mercer team Thursday by the score of 14 to 6. Mercer was somewhat stronger than was expected and at times outplayed the Florida boys.

Sparkman was the star of the day, both on offense and in backing up the line.

CITADEL 3, SOUTH CAROLINA 0

The Citadel cadets defeated the University of South Carolina Thursday 3 to 0. The cadets scored their three points in the first period on a field goal by Weeks from the 25-yard line.

Carolina failed to show the form they have at times this year and were outplayed in every department, except in the last quarter. In this period Carolina carried the ball to the 10-yard line, but on a fumble lost the ball and their only chance to score.

GUESS WHO?

We have two colonels in this school,

But a corporal one would be.

He failed, and is in the Bugle Corps,

And no longer in "Company C."

Just like an old, particular maid
When she choses her lovable man

And a rival comes 'long and takes him,

She grabs anything that she can.

He booted hard and he booted long,

But his boot seemed not to fit,

For when they called the honored names

He wept and cried a bit.

He thought he'd get a high one,
(Well, the ranking officer, say)

His very being would happy be
When the mists had rolled away.

But now the mists have rolled away

And it leaves him sadder still,
As Patrick's boot has done come off

And Col's very ill.

What has he done, Dr. Charlie,
To receive such bitter fate,

To have to join the Bugle Corps
And view the "corps" with hate?

Sandy.

sus Christ in the elemental foundations of your efforts.

Those who heard him, and there are few who do not come under that list, are universal and unanimous in their appreciative praise of the uplifting influences that have been shed among us by his straight-forward, experience-revealing talks. A great many of the leading men of the nation have been to Auburn, but we feel safe in saying that none of them has made the lasting impression that Mr. Robins has.

And the value of his service to us is not to be measured by the present impression of an emotional nature. Lasting values have been obtained which are destined to find their place in the Auburn of the future, and just here is the point of which we are most appreciative, and with which we hope to deal in a conservation that will lead every man into an atmosphere that will react for his own good and the uplifting of the men of the nation's morrow. Nothing which we can say will even partially express the appreciation we feel for the valuable service Mr. Robins has rendered our college. We see in the work he has so faithfully carried on among us, a brighter future; and one that will be a deciding factor in a great many problems of human living that are to find themselves into the life of our state and country.

That Mr. Robins may have the welcome in all the fields to which he is going, which he so justly deserves, is the greatest wish of the whole student body of the Auburn he has helped.

Engineering Notes

H. L. P. KING

At the meeting of the Engineering Society held on the evening of November 9th, President Rives read the report of the meeting of the council held on November 5th. At this meeting two standing committees were named, these committees being the Committee on Advertising and the Program Committee. The Advertising Committee is to have charge of all announcements, etc., for the society. The duties of the Program Committee will be to see that students selected to read papers by the Council be notified as to the date on which these papers are to be read, and to ascertain the willingness of the student to comply with the request of the Council. This committee is to report to Prof. Hixon.

The members of the committees are as follows:

Advertising—J. D. Russell, chairman; M. V. Zimmerman, G. L. Lampros, and P. A. Terrell.

Program Committee—P. R. Smith, chairman; R. N. White and W. T. Shinholser.

A resolution was introduced by Mr. Zimmerman and adopted by the society, providing for the enrollment of present members, and the applications of students for membership in the future.

The meeting was then turned over to Prof. Wilmore, who delivered an extremely interesting paper on "The Development of Water Power in America." In this paper Prof. Wilmore dealt with the economic side of the water power development question.

At the next meeting, December 7th, the following men will read papers before the society: C. A. Donehoo, O. A. Jackson, E. S. Gatchell, J. C. Mohns, A. B. Chapman, H. S. Watkins and R. H. Thach.

In order to stimulate interest, two prizes for the best original papers have been offered by the society. The Sophomores and Juniors are to compete for one prize and the Seniors and Post-Graduates are to compete for the other. The student papers will be passed on by the Engineering faculty, and the best papers sent to some prominent engineer for the final decision.

It is to be hoped that nothing will prevent all members of the society from being present at the next meeting. Come and bring your friends with you and help to put life and interest into the society.

The game between the University of Tennessee and the University of South Carolina, scheduled for last Saturday, was cancelled on account of the serious injuries to Bennett Jared, Volunteer halfback, received in the Vanderbilt-Tennessee game October 30.—Game-sages. The big storm which did so much damage to Southern States injured the aerial, and this has been put back into condition. The whole station weathered the storm in first-class shape, except for a few insulators.—The Mississippian.

After careful consideration the management of the 1916 Aurora has come to the conclusion that it would be unwise to get out a calendar this year.—Crimson-White.

The co-eds at Northwestern have established a barber shop and four of them are barbers. Quite needless to say that all hours are rush hours and the students at Evanston scramble for places in line. The idea is to raise funds for a woman's building with a gymnasium.
 For several years past the women students have sold sandwiches every Wednesday and have raised many nickles in this way. Their aggressive efforts are certain to be repaid, as they will be given the balance needed when they have raised a few hundred dollars more.

The Alabama student conference of the Young Men's Christian Association, which has been held at the University since Thursday night, came to a close Sunday morning.—
 Crimson-White.

The class of '18 of the Montana
 State College built a monster "M" on the side of old Mount Baldy, and it is visible from the college and the entire city. The "M" was built out of stone slabs which were hauled up the mountain side by a large number of the men in the sophomore class, after the fashion of a bucket brigade.—Exchange.

The total enrollment of the Louisiana State University now stands at 774. The total number of co-eds in the University is 137, with 79 in the college of arts and sciences, 56 in the teachers' college and one in the law department. There are 635 men students at the University.

When the present session is completed, unless he is injured or some other unforeseen circumstance comes to light, Duddy Nobles, the fastest man in Dixie, Mississippi A. and M.'s star quarterback, star basketball player and star sprinter, will have won eighteen M's.—Reflector.

Columbia University of New York, in its first season of football after several years of non-participation in the greatest American college sport, appears to be having fair success with a minor college schedule. Last Saturday she defeated Stevens.—Exchange.

"Now remember, I don't want a very large picture."

Photographer—"All right, sir, please close your mouth."

Freshman—"Let me have a pair of opera glasses, please."

Clerk—"May I ask what you are going to do with them in Auburn."

Freshman—"Term examinations, sir."
